FACTUAL ALLEGATIONS

14. Plaintiff is a consumer who is the victim of inaccurate reporting by Defendant LVNV, Transunion, Experian, and Equifax (collectively, “Defendants”), and has suffered particularized and concrete harm.

15. Transunion, Experian, and Equifax are three of the largest consumer reporting agencies (“CRAs”) as defined by 15 U.S.C. §1681a(f).

16. The CRAs’ primary business is the sale of consumer reports (commonly referred to as “credit reports”) to third parties and consumers.

17. Transunion, Experian, and Equifax each have a duty, under the FCRA, to follow reasonable procedures to ensure that the consumer reports they sell meet the standard of “maximum possible accuracy.” 15 U.S.C. §1681e(b).

18. The LVNV debt account in question arises from a transaction in which the money, property, insurance, or services that are the subject of the transaction were incurred primarily for personal, family, or household purposes.

20. LVNV uses instrumentalities of interstate commerce or the mails in a business the principal purpose of which is the collection of any debts.

21. LVNV regularly collects or attempts to collect, directly or indirectly, debts once owed or due, or once asserted to be owed or due.

22. On or around January 2024, Plaintiff discovered Defendant LVNV was erroneously reporting an LVNV account, account number ending 5771 (“Account”) as having a past due balance on Plaintiff’s Transunion, Experian, and Equifax consumer reports.

23. Plaintiff paid off the Account in full through a debt settlement agreement with Credit Control.

24. Despite receiving the full benefit of payoff on the Account, LVNV continues to report the Account on Plaintiff's consumer reports with a balance past due.

30. Upon information and belief, LVNV received notification of Plaintiff's Dispute Letter from Transunion, Experian, and Equifax.

31. Upon information and belief, LVNV verified the erroneous information associated with the Account to Transunion, Experian, and Equifax.

32. LVNV did not conduct an investigation, contact Plaintiff, contact third-parties, or review underlying account information with respect to the disputed information and the accuracy of the LVNV Account.

33. Transunion did not conduct an investigation, contact Plaintiff, contact third-parties, or review underlying account information with respect to the disputed information and the accuracy of the LVNV Account.

35. Equifax did not conduct an investigation, contact Plaintiff, contact third-parties, or review underlying account information with respect to the disputed information and the accuracy of the LVNV Account.

36. Upon information and belief, LVNV failed to instruct Transunion, Experian, and Equifax to remove the false information regarding the LVNV Account reporting on Plaintiff's consumer reports.

37. Transunion, Experian, and Equifax employed an investigation process that was not reasonable and did not remove the false information regarding the Account identified in Plaintiff's Dispute Letters.

38. At no point after receiving the Dispute Letters did LVNV, Transunion, Experian, and or Equifax communicate with Plaintiff to determine the veracity and extent of Plaintiff's Dispute Letters.

39. Transunion, Experian, and Equifax relied on their own judgment and the information provided to them by LVNV, rather than grant credence to the information provided by Plaintiff.

COUNT VIII – LVNV

(Fair Debt Collection Practices Act Violation – 15 U.S.C. § 1692e)

89. Plaintiff realleges and reaffirms the above paragraphs as though fully set forth herein.

90. Congress enacted the FDCPA to “eliminate abusive debt collection practices, to ensure that debt collectors who abstain from such practices are not competitively disadvantaged, and to promote consistent state action to protect consumers.” Jerman v. Carlisle, McNellie, Rini, Kramer & Ulrich LPA, 559 U.S. 573, 577 (2010) (citing 15 U.S.C. § 1692(e)).

91. “The FDCPA is a strict liability statute to the extent it imposes liability without proof of an intentional violation.” Allen ex rel. Martin v. LaSalle Bank, N.A., 629 F.3d 364, 368 (3d Cir. 2011).

92. “It is a remedial statute that we ‘construe . . . broadly, so as to effect its purpose.’” Rosenau v. Unifund Corp., 539 F.3d 218, 221 (3d Cir. 2008) (quoting Brown v. Card Serv. Ctr., 464 F.3d 450, 453 (3d Cir. 2006)).

93. More broadly, the FDCPA was enacted in order to eliminate abusive debt collection practices, which contribute to the number of personal bankruptcies, marital instability, loss of employment, and invasions of privacy as well as insure that debt collectors who refrain from using such practices are not competitively disadvantaged. See, e.g., 15 U.S.C. § 1692(a), (e); Leshner v. Law Offices of Mitchell N. Kay, PC, 650 F.3d 993, 996 (3d Cir.2011); Wilson, 225 F.3d at 354.

94. “[C]ourts have analyzed the statutory requirements [of the FDCPA] ‘from the perspective of the least sophisticated debtor.’ This standard is less demanding than one that inquires whether a particular debt collection communication would mislead or deceive a reasonable debtor.” Campuzano-Burgos v. Midland Credit Management, Inc., 550 F.3d 294, 298 (3d Cir. 2008) (quoting Rosenau, 539 F.3d at 221).

95. “The basic purpose of the least-sophisticated [debtor] standard is to ensure that the FDCPA protects all consumers, the gullible as well as the shrewd. This standard is consistent with the norms that courts have traditionally applied in consumer-protection law.” Caprio v. Healthcare Revenue Recovery Grp., LLC, 709 F.3d 142, 148-49 (3d Cir. 2013) (quoting Leshner, 650 F.3d at 997).

96. The FDCPA creates a broad, flexible prohibition against the use of misleading, deceptive, or false representations in the collection of debts. See 15 U.S.C. § 1692e; Hamilton v. United Healthcare of Louisiana, Inc., 310 F.3d 385, 392 (5th Cir. 2002) (citing legislative history reference to the FDCPA’s general prohibitions which “will enable the courts, where appropriate, to proscribe other improper conduct which is not specifically addressed”).

97. Included as an example of conduct that violates section 1692e is the false representation of the character, amount, or legal status of a debt. 15 U.S.C. § 1692e(2)(A).

98. Thus, the plain-language of the FDCPA makes it clear that under the strict liability framework, any false representation as to the amount of the debt is sufficient to show a violation of the FDCPA. See Randolph v. IMBS, Inc., 368 F.3d 726, 730 (7th Cir. 2004) (“§ 1692e(2)(A) creates a strict-liability rule. Debt collectors may not make false claims, period.”); see also Turner v. J.V.D.B. & Associates, Inc., 330 F.3d 991, 995 (7th Cir. 2003) (“under § 1692e ignorance is no excuse”).

99. Under the same general prohibition of false, misleading, or deceptive debt collection practices, the FDCPA prohibits a debt collector from “[c]ommunicating or threatening to communicate to any person credit information which is known or which should be known to be false. . . .” 15 U.S.C. § 1692e(8).

100. LVNV violated 15 U.S.C. § 1692e by using false, deceptive, or misleading representations or means in connection with the collection of the Debts, including by reporting false information to the credit reporting agencies concerning Plaintiff, and by failing to correct the false information once disputed.
